The aim of the SPARX program is to promote positive romantic and intimate relationships among teenagers.

- To achieve this goal,
the program has several components:
- in-class workshops for grade 9 and 10 students
 - + youth ambassador committees in participating schools
 - + video clips for parents and caregivers + a website
 - + an online training for school staff.

This document guides facilitators as they deliver the program workshops. Each of the six workshops is also visually supported by a Genially presentation.

An initiative of the SPARX team and its partners
